

Health Care for Migrant Workers

You may be able to get health care if you are a migrant worker and you have moved to Wisconsin for less than 10 months to do seasonal work on a farm or farming type job.

Your monthly income is used to see if you can get health care. If you are a migrant worker, your annual income will be used to see what your monthly income is.

If you are getting Medicaid in another state, you can get Wisconsin Medicaid or BadgerCare Plus if you have the same number of people in your home as when you were enrolled in the other state.

Your Wisconsin agency may be able to reopen your case if you:

- Lived in Wisconsin and left, but you have moved back, and
- Have not had any changes in your home and it is before your review date.

If you move back to Wisconsin after your review date or have any other changes, you will need to reapply.

You can apply with your agency in person, by telephone, mail or online at access.wi.gov. To find the agency in your area, contact Member Services at 1-800-362-3002 or go to dhs.wisconsin.gov/em/CustomHelp.

To help you get your health care faster, give the local agency a copy of your Medicaid card from the other state.

For More Information:

- Go to access.wi.gov
- Visit the Customer Help web at dhs.wisconsin.gov/em/CustomHelp
- Contact Member Services at 1-800-362-3002 (voice) or 711 (TTY)
- Contact your agency

The Department of Health Services is an equal opportunity employer and service provider. If you have a disability and need to access this information in an alternate format, or need it translated to another language, please contact (608) 266-3356 or 1-888-701-1251 (TTY). All translation services are free of charge.

For civil rights questions, call (608) 266-9372 or 1-888-701-1251 (TTY).

State of Wisconsin
Department of Health Services

P-10053 (08/09)