Common Questions

- I worked in a private home as a CNA. Will these hours count?
Employment hours in a private setting will not be counted unless the work is performed under the supervision of a licensed nurse.
- Can I submit paystubs or a letter from my employer to verify my employment hours?
Paystubs or letters from employers will not be accepted to verify the number of employment hours. The employment verification form must be completed and submitted.
- Can I change the dates on the form?
Forms with altered dates will not be accepted. The dates listed are not specific employment dates. Only the number of hours worked within the specified timeframe should be reported in Section II.
- How do I find out my nurse aide certification status or my last date of certification?
Please visit the registry website: <https://wi.tmutest.com/> to look up your registry account and determine your certification status.
- When can I renew my certification?
Your nurse aide certification may be renewed within 90 days of the certification lapse date. It is possible you may have your certification renewed retroactively with employment verification.
- How long does it take to process my certification renewal request.
Renewal requests are processed in the order they are received. You can check the status of your certification the Wisconsin nurse aide registry website: <https://wi.tmutest.com/>.
