Input Activities

A team of community representatives will be formed to:

- ¿Review health conditions and their modifiable risk factors which impact community residents.
- ¿Identify community strengths and resources which can be built upon to address given health conditions.
- ¿Prioritize health conditions which impact residents.
- ¿Develop goals, measurable objectives, and implementation strategies to address the top health priorities.
- ¿Incorporate health-plan goals and strategies into day-to-day activities of community partners.
- ¿Annually review progress on goals, objectives, and strategies.

Community representatives will review enough data to decide if the health priority is a top concern for their residents without overburdening them with information that is better used in targeting implementation initiatives.

Community representatives determine variations to the process and information discussed. Depending on the community, template data may be augmented with data only found locally; including school and opinion surveys, environmental health programs, and local health providers.
