

Services Included in Adult Long-Term Care Programs—IRIS, Family Care, and Partnership

Wisconsin has public programs that offer services for older adults and adults with disabilities. Some programs include:

- IRIS (Include, Respect, I Self-Direct).
- Family Care.
- Partnership.
- Medicaid.
- Medicaid ForwardHealth card Services.

This handout shows which services are part of each program's benefit package. Not all services are listed. The services you receive are based on your needs and other program requirements.

Terms to know

Before you view the table of services, make sure you know what each term means.

Yes

The program includes and pays for the service. The service may need to be approved first.

Limited

The program includes the service but with some restrictions.

ForwardHealth card

You must use your Medicaid ForwardHealth card to pay for the service.

Medicare

You must use your Medicare plan to pay for the service.

Notes

- ¹ With IRIS, you use a budget to buy services, supports, and goods based on your approved IRIS plan. You may employ service providers yourself or work with an agency.
- ² When you enroll in Family Care, you join a managed care organization. They make sure you get long-term care services. You choose your services and providers from a network.
- ³ You cannot enroll or remain enrolled in IRIS if you live in a nursing home or community-based residential facility.
- ⁴ If you need help with personal care tasks, you may qualify for IRIS self-directed personal care. It's a separate type of service that the program offers in addition to other services you receive through IRIS.

Helpful reminders

- Estate recovery applies for Family Care, Partnership, PACE, and IRIS. It also applies to personal cares paid for by Medicaid card services and nursing home paid for by Medicaid.
- Are you applying for Partnership? If you are eligible for Medicare, you must enroll in the Partnership managed care organization's D-SNP (Dual Eligible Special Needs Plans).
- With IRIS, the IRIS consultant agency and fiscal employer agent must authorize all providers.
- If you have Medicare or are covered under a private health care insurance plan, those plans will be billed before Medicaid because Medicaid is the payor of last resort.
