CRISIS NOW SERVICES

The right care, at the right time, in the right place

COMING SOON: Places that provide an entry Counties may provide in-person support point for immediate support from professionals Free and confidential support provided from behavioral health professionals where trained in responding to mental health by trained counselors 24/7 through the individual in crisis is located when a emergencies in a setting designed for mental calls, texts, and chats for people in crisis cannot be resolved by phone. This health services. State rules to regulate the suicidal or emotional distress. service is not available in all counties. operations of this facility type are being written. County Mobile Urgent Care and 988 Crisis Response Observation Centers A Safe Place to Get Help Someone to Contact Someone to Respond County Crisis Co-Responder Mobile Stabilization Crisis Response Models Facilities Lines Places for youth and adults that provide Behavioral health professionals and trained First responders (law enforcement. volunteers are available by phone 24/7 to EMS, etc.) paired with behavioral supports in a structured environment health professionals who provide in-person support where the individual in crisis is located. This service is not available in all communities.

assist with problem-solving stressful situations and determining whether an individual can remain safely in the community or if facility-based care is required.

designed to help an individual develop skills to manage their stress and symptoms and build connections in their community to help thrive during times of adversity.