Introduction

Background

The goal of the Wisconsin Oral Health Workforce Pathway Program (WOHWPP) is to engage students in oral health careers and create a sustainable program focused on increasing the diversity and geographic distribution of the Wisconsin oral health workforce. The WOHWPP is made up of Connection Opportunities, Future Oral Health Workforce Day (<https://ahec.wisc.edu/fohwd/>), and apprenticeship opportunities.

Connection Opportunities

There will be four different levels of Connection Opportunities: meet a dental profession student, meet a dental professional, shadow a dental professional, and employment opportunities. Connection Opportunities encourages dental profession students and dental professionals across culturally diverse groups with various lived experiences—representing the global spectrum of ethnicity, gender, and ability—to become involved in offering guidance to Wisconsin high school students and adult learners with an interest in oral health careers.

Meet a dental profession student

A dental profession student will provide guidance and support to an individual as they consider a career in the dental field. The student and dental profession student will determine what that guidance and support look like and how often they will connect. A minimum of two meetings is encouraged.

Meet a dental professional

A dental professional will provide guidance and support to an individual as they consider a career in the dental field. The student and dental professional will determine what that guidance and support look like and how often they will connect. A minimum of two meetings is encouraged.

Shadow a dental professional

A dental professional will provide at least one job shadow opportunity and offer guidance and support to an individual as they consider a career in the dental field. The student and dental professional will determine what that guidance and support look like and how often they will connect. A minimum of one meeting in addition to the job shadow is encouraged.

Employment opportunities

Employment opportunities will take place through the Department of Workforce Development (DWD) Youth Apprenticeship (YA) program's dental assisting track. The YA program offers a rewarding employment opportunity for high school juniors and seniors to train as dental assistants. Students who participate gain valuable hands-on experience that sets a foundation for a career in dentistry, all while earning a paycheck.

We hope that you can find a valuable opportunity to form a connection whether you are interested in a dental career or not.

Making a connection

Individuals interested in connecting with a dental profession student or dental professional should complete and submit a Connection Opportunities form. The Wisconsin Oral Health Program staff will connect you with a dental profession student or dental professional based on the information you provide in your form. We will make every effort to make connections based on career interest, demographics, and geographic location (for job shadowing purposes) whenever possible. Our goal is to match students with the exact profession(s) they are interested in, but despite our best effort, sometimes this is not possible. Students may be matched with someone in a similar profession and/or someone enrolled in a dental program similar to their personal interest.

We will make every effort to match all students who have expressed a genuine interest in working in the dental field. If we receive more interest than we have available connections for, we may not be able to match all students who apply.

Roles and responsibilities of student

- Complete Connection Opportunities form indicating interest in connecting with a dental profession student or dental professional. The Wisconsin Oral Health Program will email you to notify you of your mentor match.
- Reach out to the dental profession student or dental professional. The Wisconsin Oral Health Program staff will make the connection to a dental profession student or dental professional. Students are then responsible for setting up their own meetings and communications. See the suggested activities and conversation topics below to guide you on setting up a meeting and what to discuss.
- Maintain a professional demeanor at all times during the process.
- Maintain communication with the Wisconsin Oral Health Program by completing brief check-ins via email.
- Notify the Wisconsin Oral Health Program at DHSOralHealthPathway@dhs.wisconsin.gov immediately of any concerns.
- Complete HIPAA training, if participating in a job shadow.
- Complete evaluation surveys at the end of the experience.

Benefits for student

- Receive guidance and support from a current student pursuing a dental or dental training program degree or a dental professional.
- Learn more about the steps that need to be taken to succeed in a dental training program and as a future dental professional.
- Narrow down career interest.
- Begin building a professional network that you can rely on to write letters of recommendation (for scholarships, college applications, jobs, etc.) or serve as a reference.
- Set goals for the future with the guidance of others.
- Improve confidence and learn professional skills.

Wisconsin Oral Health Program contact information

Please contact the Wisconsin Oral Health Program at DHSOralHealthPathway@dhs.wisconsin.gov with any questions or concerns.

Meet a Dental Profession Student

Students will connect with a current student pursuing a dental or dental training program degree. The dental profession student will provide guidance and support to the student as they consider a career in the dental field. The student and dental student peer will determine what that guidance and support look like and how often they will connect. A minimum of two meetings is encouraged.

Activities for student

- Set a meeting and communication schedule that works for you and the dental profession student. A minimum of two meetings is encouraged.
- Determine best method of communication.
- Prepare topics to discuss or set a meeting agenda.
- Stick to scheduled meeting times without going over whenever possible.
- Maintain communication with the Wisconsin Oral Health Program by completing brief check-ins via email.
- Complete evaluation surveys at the end of the peer engagement experience.

Meet a Dental Professional

Students will connect with a dental professional. The dental professional will provide guidance and support to the interested individual as they consider a career in the dental field. The student and dental professional will determine what that guidance and support look like and how often they will connect. A minimum of two meetings is encouraged.

Activities for student

- Set a meeting and communication schedule that works for you and the dental professional. A minimum of two meetings is encouraged.
- Determine best method of communication.
- Prepare topics to discuss or set a meeting agenda.
- Stick to scheduled meeting times without going over whenever possible.
- Maintain communication with the Wisconsin Oral Health Program by completing brief check-ins via email.
- Complete evaluation surveys at the end of the professional advising experience.

Shadow a Dental Professional

Students will connect with a dental professional that will provide at least one job shadow opportunity and offer guidance and support to the student as they consider a career in the dental field. The student and dental professional will determine what that guidance and support look like and how often they will connect.

Activities for student

- Set a meeting and communication schedule that works for you and the dental professional. A minimum of one meeting in addition to the job shadow is encouraged.
- Determine best method of communication.
- Set up at least one job shadow opportunity.
- Complete HIPAA training and forward verification of completion to dental clinic (see instructions below).
- Prepare topics to discuss or set a meeting agenda.
- Stick to scheduled meeting times without going over whenever possible.
- Maintain communication with the Wisconsin Oral Health Program by completing brief check-ins via email.
- Complete evaluation surveys at the end of the job shadowing experience.

Prior to job shadowing, all students must complete HIPAA training. Please access the “public-facing” training instructions from the University of Wisconsin-Madison by visiting <https://compliance.wisc.edu/wp-content/uploads/sites/102/2023/10/2023-24-External-HIPAA-Training-Final.pdf>.

At the end of the instructions, you will be directed to complete a training attestation to serve as verification of completion of the training. It will be emailed to you for your records at the email address of your choice. You are responsible for forwarding that verification to the dental clinic where you will be completing a job shadow. It is very important that all students understand HIPAA and confidentiality.

If there are any questions, please contact the Wisconsin Oral Health Program at DHSOralHealthPathway@dhs.wisconsin.gov or the dental professional prior to your job shadow. Facility-specific paperwork may also need to be completed prior to your job shadow.

Employment Opportunities

Employment opportunities will take place through the Department of Workforce Development (DWD) Youth Apprenticeship (YA) program’s dental assisting track. The YA program offers a rewarding employment opportunity for high school juniors and seniors to train as dental assistants. Students who participate gain valuable hands-on experience that sets a foundation for a career in dentistry, all while earning a paycheck. YA combines two semesters of occupation-related instruction with on-the-job learning. Students work at least 450 hours each year of their apprenticeship, while taking related courses at the same time. After completing a one- or two-year YA, students receive real work experience that trains them for an in-demand occupation including dental assistant. The dental assisting track is currently the only dental career available for students in the YA program.

Benefits for high school student

- Receive real work experience in the dental assistant field.
- Receive guidance and support from dental professionals.
- Learn more about the steps that need to be taken to succeed in this in-demand occupation.
- Begin building a professional network that you can rely on to write letters of recommendation (for scholarships, college applications, jobs, etc.) or serve as a reference.
- Improve confidence and learn professional skills.
- Set goals for the future with the guidance of others.
- Improve communication skills.
- Learn about professionalism.

How to get started for students

- Complete Connection Opportunities form indicating interest in participating in the YA program. The Wisconsin Oral Health Program will provide your information to the appropriate contact at DWD, who will reach out to you via email.
- Learn about the YA application process and how participating in the YA program can prepare students for the future through a combination of employment and coursework.
<https://dwd.wisconsin.gov/apprenticeship/ya/applicants.htm>
- Review the health science occupational pathway to learn about the dental assistant profession.

- Is there a professional organization to offer support?
- Are there opportunities for advancement?
- What types of qualities should a person have to be good at this job?
- What is your schedule like? Do you work nights, weekends, and holidays?
- What is the career outlook like? What changes have you seen in your job? What changes do you foresee in the future?
- What advice do you have for someone thinking about pursuing this career?
- What other jobs or careers are like this one?
- Do you work with people in other health care professions?
- What role does technology play in your job?
- What are clinical rotations like?
- How do you maintain professionalism on the job?

- How do you balance your personal life with your work?
- Discuss the importance of cultural competence.
- Why is HIPAA so important and how can I make sure I do not violate HIPAA?

Evaluation

It is our expectation that each student, dental profession student, and dental professional will maintain communication with the Wisconsin Oral Health Program and complete evaluation surveys. The Wisconsin Oral Health Program will send brief check-ins via email. In addition to check-ins, each participant will complete an exit survey at the end of the experience.

Students, dental profession students, and dental professionals should reach out to the Wisconsin Oral Health Program at DHSOralHealthPathway@dhs.wisconsin.gov with questions or concerns about the Connection Opportunities through the Wisconsin Oral Health Workforce Pathway Program.
